By the time you have returned to Hawes you will not only have enjoyed some of the most splendid scenery in Yorkshire, locations for such films as Warhoes and Robin Hood, but you will have met some of the most innovative artists and craftspeople in the country.

Devoees of James Herriot's 'All creatures great and small' will want to visit Askring where much of the television series was filmed. On your way back to Hawes why not visit the Burtersett Studio Gallery.

Drive west along the A684 through Wensley with its stately church visit White Rose Candles. A few miles further on, the B6160 leads to the picturesque village of West Burton with its hidden waterfall, extensive Green and, of course, The Cat Pottery. Continue West to the nearby renowned Aysgarth Falls and the Tourist Centre.

On to Leyburn, another bustling market town where you can travel on the Wensleydale Railway up to Redfere or down to Finghall, Bedale and Leeming Bar. Nearby is Garrison Wensleydale Longwool Sheepshop and the historic castles - Bolton and Middleham - ancient guardians of Wensleydale.

Many arts and craftspeople live and work in the two Dales, finding inspiration in a unique countryside of pastoral riverside villages, tumbling waterfalls, great sweeping fells and windswept moorland. They are a diverse band of artists working in and with a wide variety of materials - woods and wools, metal and glass, clay and candle wax, rope and even felt and copper. All of them are dedicated to creating high quality, beautifully crafted products for the market both at home and overseas. Visit them in their own workshops and take home a piece of the artistic Dales.
